Design Overview (lo-fi)

The overall current design stayed the same as the lo-fi prototypes. However, there have been some small changes to the product details page and the footer. For example, the current design of the website is more straightforward with the ingredients (just three circles instead of 6 triangles). The footer is a lot less cluttered too (as you can see in the high-fi prototypes).

Design Overview (hi-fi)

To keep the overall atmosphere of the website consistent, I incorporated colorful images for the drinks, as well as yellow buttons that are present throughout the website. Overall, I wanted to design something that is straightforward, not overwhelming to the users, and efficient (not a lot of steps involved to complete the task). The coded website follows the hi-fi prototypes exactly.
